Harriman-CES Pre-Dissertation Research Fellowship

The Harriman Institute at Columbia University and the Council for European Studies (CES) invite eligible graduate students with a focus on Eastern Europe to apply for the Harriman-CES Pre-Dissertation Research Fellowship. The Harriman Institute is one of the world’s leading academic institutions devoted to Russian, Eurasian and East European studies. Each fellowship includes a $5,000 stipend to fund two months’ research in Europe, and travel support for attending and presenting at the International Conference of Europeanists.

Eligibility

The Harriman-CES Pre-Dissertation Research Fellowship is intended to fund fellows’ first research project in Europe. Applicants must:

- be enrolled in a doctoral program at a university that is a member of the Council for European Studies Academic Consortium
- not have completed the majority of doctoral coursework
- not have begun substantial dissertation research in Europe

Deadlines

Application period opens October 1, 2016
